

GableGotwals offers employment law seminar

By Lesa Jones lesa.jones@tulsabusiness.com | Posted: Friday, October 16, 2015

Attorneys, managers and human resources professionals are invited to attend a free employment law seminar to be presented next month by the GableGotwals law firm.

The seminar, titled “Emerging Rules, Evolving Technology and Effective Solutions,” is scheduled for Nov. 4 in Oklahoma City and Nov. 13 in Tulsa.

Presenters will provide tangible steps to help human resources professionals, in-house legal counsel and department managers reduce risk and ensure compliance with state and federal laws and regulations.

The training will encompass three sessions:

- New Decisions and Pronouncements Affecting All Employers in Big Ways
- Data Security in the Trenches: How to Equip Your Employees as a First Line of Defense (and Keep Them That Way),
- Fair Labor Standards Act: Administrative Exemptions/Constantly Plugged In Employees.

The seminar is approved for three hours of continuing education credit by the Oklahoma Bar Association and the HR Certification Institute.

Sessions begin at 8:30 a.m. both days. The Nov. 4 seminar in Oklahoma City will be held at Credit Union House, 631 E. Hill St. The Nov. 13 Tulsa seminar will be held at the Ambassador Hotel, 1324 S. Main St.

To reserve a seat, contact Melissa Bogle at mbogle@gablelaw.com.